Graduate & Professional Degree Programs

TULANE UNIVERSITY is one of the most highly regarded and selective independent research universities in the U.S. Since its founding in 1834, Tulane has invited students and scholars to explore, question, investigate, discover, and create. The strength and diversity of Tulane's degree programs draw upon highly qualified students from across the country and the world. As a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities and ranked in the top two percent of universities by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Tulane provides an exceptional environment for teaching and learning.

WHY TULANE?

You will likely consider several universities for your graduate or professional training. What distinguishes Tulane from your other options? As a student at Tulane, you will

- Experience the advantages of a pre-eminent research university in a small, personal setting.
- Benefit from superb research resources available in specialized labs, centers, and archives.
- Explore innovative, interdisciplinary approaches to graduate and professional study.
- Gain real-world experience in merging academic inquiry with civic engagement.
- Enjoy the rich cultural tapestry of the city New Orleans.

Only in New Orleans. Only at Tulane.

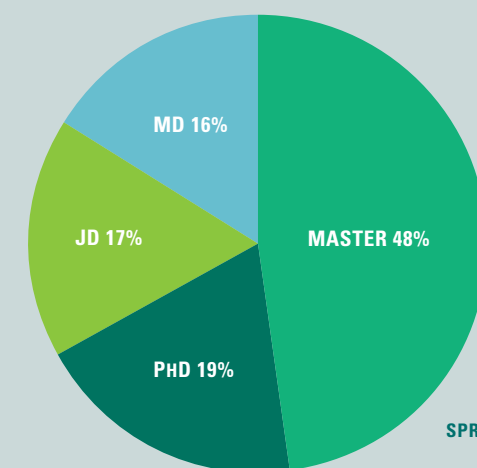

PROGRAMS OF STUDY

Tulane offers research-oriented graduate programs leading to PhD, MA, and MS degrees through the Schools of Architecture, Business, Law, Liberal Arts, Medicine, Public Health & Tropical Medicine, Science & Engineering, and Social Work. Professional degrees are available at both the master's and doctoral levels in the Schools of Architecture, Business, Law, Medicine, Public Health & Tropical Medicine, and Social Work. The School of Continuing Studies, the university's continuing education division, sponsors a Master of Liberal Arts and a Master of Professional Studies. Joint degrees are available in several fields. Graduate and professional students comprise 36% of Tulane's total enrollment of more than 13,000 students.

A PUBLIC SERVICE TRADITION

Tulane strives to connect its values and mission to the needs of the city of New Orleans, the state, the nation, and the world. Local community involvement is more important than ever as the university participates in the rebirth of New Orleans. Faculty and staff lend their expertise to rebuilding efforts and students gain real-world experience while putting their skills to use in the local community. Opportunities for international research and practice abound.
